

February 11, 2020

Dear Authors and Participants,

It has come to attention of the CAADRIA 2020 organizing committee that the situation of the COVID-19 has had a widespread effect in Asia in the past few weeks, restricting travel to and from most Asian countries including the host country of Bangkok, Thailand. With the CAADRIA 2020 conference closely approaching its scheduled dates between 7-10 April, 2020, the current status of the outbreak and how it can be contained in the near future is yet to be determined and assessed. We believe the situation may get worse before it gets better during that period and therefore we regret to inform you on behalf of CAADRIA and the CAADRIA 2020 organizing committee that the CAADRIA 2020 conference will be postponed to a later date during 5-8 August, 2020. Please do accept our sincerest apologies for this inconvenience and we do hope you will understand that the safety and wellbeing of all conference attendees is our highest priority and main reason for this decision.

In addition to the postponement of the conference, we would also like to announce that the deadlines for all submissions and registrations have also been rescheduled to a later date as follows:
